OIL LANDS IN CALIFORNIA IN GRAVE DANGER

Ten Thousand Acres Already Laid Waste—Coal Mine Burns 40 Hours

VENTURE, Cal., Sept. 18.—A driving rain and a gale of wind fanned a broad-covered Santa Paula mountain into a seething mass of smoke and fire which in 24 hours had laid waste at least 10,000 acres and destroyed $1 million worth of oil wells.

A weary line of 200 men fought the flames all night, but were unable to get their ground on a six-mile stretch between the mountains and the ocean, which was in imminent danger.

Twenty Rangers and 30 oil derricks scattered through the mountain had been set afire by the burning oil wells. The fires burned to the ground. "We don't know how many wells have burned, but there are at least 10,000," said one of the oil company officials.

One man was killed, one slightly injured and two others severely gashed. The fire was strong on a 20-mile stretch of the coast, but the safety of the nearby oil fields held the men in suspense. The towering country, thickly grown over in oil wells, on the main road from Santa Paula to the oil-producing areas, a terrible fire in the making.

DALLAS, Sept. 18.—An 18-year-old man charged with kidnapping were remanded Tuesday for Edward W. Nichols, 24, and James M. Holden, 24, at the time of his arrest, for trial on the charge of food or water in a Detroit home for six days.

Holden, son of Matthew Holden, a restaurant proprietor, was charged with kidnapping his father and his mother, and was remanded to a cell in the county jail.

Holden had paid the kidnappers $1,000, and was to receive $1,000.

Identification of the suspects came yesterday. They were arrested Friday night in a rooming house in the Express area, and during the election campaign were called to the polls.

LIFE SIZE CAVE MAN IS REMADE FOR A MUSEUM

Chicago, Through Reconstruction, Visualizes Past of Prehistoric Age

Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—With completion of the first authoritative life-size reproduction ever made of a cave man, the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago today is the only community in the world to have a copy of a prehistoric man as thus visualized.

The reconstruction is one of the earliest types of pre-historic man, and it is believed to be the European man, whose race lived in western Europe during the last glacial period, and for whom there is no written record of their existence of which complete skeletons have been found.

Work of Expeditions

Realistic... of the cave man group consist of a man about 53 years old, a boy about 12, a woman about 30 with a baby in her arms, and an older woman. These figures have all been carefully reconstructed from fragments, casts and models made of the skull, bone, muscle, skin, hair, and teeth which have been found in various locations in Europe. The figures are in lifelike attitudes, and are represented as engaged in occupations typical of their primitive stage of development.

True to Life

Special characteristics of the Neanderthal race are carefully represented. The men were short and stocky, and continuous brow ridges extending from the bridge of the nose to the top of the head, with heads thrown forward because of peculiar conformation of the spinal column. The women were shorter than the men, and more slender, and were built for these people to stand quite erect; broad hips, and a very large bust, as corolla's, which it was impossible for them to hold upright.

Their bodies, the group shows, were soft and stout of build. Their heads were very large, and the size of their brains was not below that of modern man. They had a very poor appreciation of the art of clothing, and the proportions were more like those of the apes than of modern man. The hands were extremely large and lacked fine dexterity. The arms were relatively shorter than the legs, and the legs were longer than the arms, thus indicating that these people were clumsy and slow-moving beings.

Fine Fairs Held At Mahaska And Peers

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin
MAHASKA, Iowa, Sept. 18.—A combined fall fair and exhibition was opened by the combined schools of Carroll Creek, Sparta, Peers, Melvill, and Mahaska. The exhibits were splendid displays of flowers and vegetables, and the exhibits of home cooking by the girls proved that their mothers were good cooks. The fancy work also made a fine showing. Peers school won the prize for the best exhibit.

On the following Tuesday another fair was held at Peers, and the exhibits of the University Women's Institutes of Carroll Creek, Melville, and Mahaska. The fancy work exhibits were good in every class. Cooking and vegetable exhibits were of prime and the vegetables were a credit.

Mrs. W. Lee was several first prizes with her exhibits of dried fruit, dried vegetables, carrots and cabbage. Mrs. J. Hadden won first place in dried fruit, dried carrots and turnips. Mrs. J. Hader and Miss Emma H. Hader won first and second prizes with hand-painted articles. Mrs. Hader's hand-painted pictures of vegetables also won first. The Girls' club ran a booth of novelties, and the boys' club a booth of dried fruit.

Cutting and stocking is done and time has come for the fall fairs.

An average lot of 20 bushels of wheat is expected to be harvested when the frost comes. Oats were damaged by frost.

The Peers Livestock association is making arrangements to ship cattle the first of the week.

A farmed banner was held at Peers school by the student who has been presenting in the various districts of the state.

H. J. Helgeland, who underwent his famous operation at the Mayo hospital, is progressing favorably.

Mills At Whitecourt Closed For Season

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin
WHITECOURT, Alta., Sept. 18.—The mills of the Whitecourt Lumber Co. have closed down their big saw mills after having completed this season's cut of 1,000,000 board feet. It is understood, unfortunately, that this company will not resume its logging operations during the coming winter.

Autumn Modes

Highlights of the Fall Mode

Spanish Influence

THE Spanish Influence strikes a definite note in Fall Fashions. The Exposition at Barcelona has undoubtedly influenced the mode. Ruffled effects, boleros, brilliant colors and laces, are all traced to the Spanish influence.

Color

BACK is the vogue this season and it is frequently enlivened with touches of bright coloring. Then come the warm woody browns, glowing reds, deep wine tones, rich golden rusts, capucine yellow, currant red, greens and blues.

The Silhouette

THE "Princess line" dominates the autumn mode. The waistline is slightly raised giving a graceful sweep and imparting long, willowy lines. Skirts appear to be longer—sometimes three inches below the knee—for daytime wear—for evening may even sweep the floor.

Frocks Fit Snugly at Hipline and Flare Low on the Skirt

THE new silhouette of the Autumn frock, gives graceful figure lines to the wearer. Rich satins, beautiful flat crepes and supple velvets are favored for afternoon and evening, while tweeds and jersey, expertly tailored are the vogue for sports wear.

Lines Are Moulded to the Figure in the New Coats

THE "Princess" influence extends to every branch of apparel. Coats are lavishly trimmed with fur—Wolf, Mole, Squirrel, Caracal, American Mink, dyed Opossum. Fabrics are principally smooth finished, silky broadcloths. —Travel tweeds are decidedly new and popular and will be much in evidence, particularly those trimmed with fur.

Hats Leave the Face Exposed

BIG hats flare back from the face and extend at the sides to a low back line in hats of felt. Velvet turbans, skilfully draped, combine comfort with undoubted chic. Smart banded felts are favored for sports.

Fall Shoes Flatter the Ankle

THE snug-high arch and slender, graceful lines so important to smart, perfect-fitting footwear distinguish the autumn modes. —Pumps and strap effects are greatly favored—black and tan appear to be prime favorites.

Smart Gloves Most Important

SIMPLY gloved hands will display new ideas in slip-on and cuff models, shades will match the costume.

Jewelry Is Exceedingly Interesting

COSTUME jewelry is much favored for Autumn—it's sparkle gives zest to the costume. Many new ideas for evening wear, moderately priced.

Tomorrow! The First of a Series of Lessons on Bridge

Under the Personal Direction of Mr. F. E. Bruehlheide—in the HBC Dining Room Commencing at 3 o'clock.

—Mr. Bruehlheide's Bridge Lessons are given in connection with the actual playing of hands which illustrate the fundamentals of bridge. He has the happy faculty of not taking "over the heads" of his classes; his theory being that bridge should be made a pleasure, not a test of patience.

—Each person attending his Bridge Lessons will receive a 32 page book, which is a complete summary of his lessons and includes a summary of the Laws of Bridge. In addition each player receives a copy of the hands that are demonstrated, and a pocket card to assist you in valuing your cards.

—Tickets are 50¢ per lesson.

A DANGEROUS ISSUE

Representatives of China wanted the League of Nations to take a hand in securing the revision of its treaties with foreign powers. The League committee refused, probably, to accept the proposal as precedent. Germany is quite likely to apply one of these days for a revision of the treaty of Versailles, on the ground that it is out of date, "inapplicable" and a menace to the League. France would be master clear of any course which would open the way for a move in that direction. The revision of the treaty of Versailles is a rock upon which the League would be liable to founder. The farther it keeps away from that subject the better.

THE ALBERTA WEEKLIES

The men and women who produce the weekly papers in Alberta and the prairies are gathering in the city today, and will hold their annual convention here tomorrow and Friday. A large attendance is expected and arrangements have been made for a number of useful lectures and programs. Fraternal greetings are being extended, with a hope that the convention may prove to be the most enjoyable and profitable in the history of the association.

Alberta weekly will bear comparison with those published in any of the other provinces. Circulating mainly among the farm population and the residents of the small towns, they play an important part in shaping public opinion and in the welfare of their communities. The character of a town is very commonly measured by the kind of newspaper it supports. The average Alberta weekly is a very worthy representative of the community whose patronage makes its publication possible.

KEEP THE NATIONAL ISOLATED?

Some contemporaries are disposed to find fault with Sir Henry Thornton for accepting a position on the directorate of the Royal Bank. They argue that as a public servant he should not have any connection with a privately-owned enterprise. In other words, they fear that Sir Henry as a director of the bank may be under temptation to promote the interests of that institution at the expense of the National Railways.

If the Royal Bank were in competition with the National Railways, or if the interests of the two were collect, there would be reasonable grounds for demanding that the head of the railway system should not be a director of the bank. As the two are not in competition or conflict, in any field or in any conceivable way, the objection is based upon theory only, and not upon practical considerations.

The notion that the management of the Royal Bank should preserve itself in a position of "absolute isolation" from all other commercial enterprises is unsound. Experience shows that a railway may profit, and not suffer, through having those who engaged in the manufacture of other and dissimilar business undertakings.

The president of the Canadian Pacific holds many other positions. Many of the directors of that company are also of financial, industrial, and commercial concerns. But no one will suggest surely that the Canadian Pacific is not a well-managed business, nor that the head of that company is not the directing force behind it in allowing its directors to hold like positions in other corporations.

That is good practice for the Canadian Pacific ought to be equally good practice for the Canadian National. As a matter of fact the Canadian Pacific has prospered, and the Canadian National has been handicapped, because the board of the Canadian Pacific were men who by their influence in other enterprises were able to locate industrial establishments along its lines and to turn traffic into its channels, while the directors of the National were not able to do the same service for the system that they represent.

Sir Henry Thornton's job is to make the Canadian National pay. The fidelity, energy and success with which he has voted himself to that end are all the assurance needed that the interests of the railway are his supreme consideration. When he accepts, as a side-issue, a directorship in another business, the public are in common fairness bound to assume that he knows what he is doing and that he is convinced that the interests of the railway will benefit and not suffer, because of this. If having done this, the National Railways out of the hole they were in does not entitle a man to that measure of public confidence, then just what kind and degree of service would do so?

Wisdom

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Oh, youth, you seem so very wise, But tests have never filled your eyes With the knowledge that you lack. The casual way you smile or sneer Is prone to distract others and tear All, then all, those doubts you bring away With the words, "I know it all."

Now youth, who are you glibly say That youth is much too smart today? You will, and too sporty, play, And in a moment, with your views, The arrogance of youth will show, And, though you may think you'll pull many a doubt will they admit When that old man says that he's won.

With all the wisdom they have learned In school, the lesson they have learned, Will bring them no one ever gleam What trouble, what sorrow means.

"Professors who the young may teach Tell them what they must learn each day, And make them wise and witty, But life itself must pound them down, And teach them what they must pay.

And common need for pity,

When care and grief are things they know."

Neurotic Adolescent

By GLEN FRANK

For the last two days I have presented six questions from a questionnaire designed to give some insight into the problems of children who may be neurotic. The first question was: "Are you a happy and effective adolescent?" The second was: "Are you a neurotic adolescent?" Today by presenting forty additional questions that should be asked of adolescents, we can get a picture of the whole field.

1. Do you ever have the feeling that you are not good enough to get into college?

2. Do you ever feel as if you were not good enough?

3. Are you often bothered with the thought that you are not good enough?

4. Do you worry too much when you haven't finished your lessons, when you have overheard others talking about you?

5. Do you feel well rested in the morning?

6. Do you feel sort of tired a good deal of the time?

7. Do you feel bored in school?

8. Do you feel good and well?

9. Do you feel like you are sick?

10. Do you have a great deal of fear?

11. Do you feel that you are afraid?

12. Do your teachers generally treat you right?

13. Do you feel belittled by a feeling that things are not real?

14. Are you ever troubled with the idea that something is wrong?

15. Do you feel that someone is trying to do you harm?

16. Do they make you uneasy to cross a wide street or go up stairs?

17. Do they make you uneasy to sit in a small room with the door shut?

18. Do you have a hard time making up your mind about things?

19. Do you feel you do just as good when someone is looking at you when you are alone?

20. Do you feel you are a failure?

21. Do you feel you are very weak?

22. Do you feel you are very sensitive?

23. Do you feel you have a lot of energy?

24. Do you feel you have a strong desire to set fire to something?

25. Do you feel you have a strong desire to steal?

26. Do you feel you have more fears than most people?

27. Do you make friends easily?

28. Do you feel you are very strong superlatives?

29. Do you feel you have a lot of energy?

30. Do you feel you are very weak?

31. Do you feel you are very sensitive?

32. Do you feel you are a failure?

33. Do you feel you are very weak?

34. Do you feel you are very sensitive?

35. Do you feel you are a failure?

36. Do you feel you are very weak?

37. Do you feel you are very sensitive?

38. Do you feel you are a failure?

39. Do you feel you are very weak?

40. Do you feel you are a failure?

With these questions honestly answered, an expert psychologist can quickly help the adolescent.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE EMPRESS

A corking talk-film will open a three week engagement at the Empress on Sept. 25. "The Shakedown," an starring handsome young James Murray and adorable Barbara Kent, is a comedy drama by Alberta, William Wyley, director from a story by Clark A. League. It is a story of the times that make for suspense and suspense, well modulated and forceful dialogue and make this picture out of the ordinary. It is the first talk-film directed with "Anybody Here Been Drinking?" In "The Shakedown," there is always something new in the lives of human characters and in the life of the audience, too, as the story goes on.

Mary Pickford's role in a young girl's life is taken over by Barbara Kent in a wittily told story.

Miss Murray's role in a young girl's life is taken over by Barbara Kent in a wittily told story.

AT THE RIALTO

Mary Pickford, one of the greatest actresses of all time, has now come to us who has ever fitted gracefully across the silver screen of the movies is appearing in her first talk-film, "The Love Boat," latest production and first all-talking film.

In this production, "America's Sweetheart" in her first talk-film has been dubbed, offers to her countess admirers a triple advance in her career. She is a woman who speaks her lines, she plays a bewitching game of cards, she has a way of alluring bobbed hair and she plays an unpredictable broadway drama in which she gets out of her boat and around the lights and in which significant heart-to-heart talk is exchanged between the Pickford girls.

AT THE MONARCH

All the classic character portrayals upon the screen there is more popularity than ever before in "The Lone Wolf." Season after season has seen Bert Lytell return to motion pictures in his rôle of the mysterious Lamard. The appeal of these stories lies in the fact that the rôle of Joseph Vance is phenomenal and each picture is better than the previous. "The Lone Wolf's Daughter," a Columbia production at the Monarch pictures, is no exception.

Every lover of mystery, action, thrillers and suspense will find pleasure in "The Lone Wolf's Daughter." Color Symphony "Hawaiian Love Song" Talking Comedy is the clever introduction of a test-vehicle in the development of the motion picture industry. The author and use of the latest discovery of radio science is shown upon the screen.

THE PRINCESS

Comedy Queen Minnie keeps the audience at the Princess theatre in the mood of mirth and fun in "The Princess." Passed "X" in the United States. "Princess" in Love. The delightful comedy of a hindering mother and a determined daughter is probably one of the best vehicles that have been offered to the public. The performance is further enhanced by the singing qualities of Minnie's voice. "Princess" in Love is a comedy original. A day run at the Princess theatre is a must for anyone who loves the realm of talking moving pictures. Pictures are now so good that the rare fun and unusual talent of the past will find him a hundred and one ways to amuse the folks and sing his fine whimsical love making.

Alberta Opens Doors To Women In Medical Profession

Great New Field Waiting for Girls Who Would be Doctors
—Expenses Heavy and Course Long, But Results
Are Very Much Worth While

BY HELEN M. RYDER

The art of healing and the power to eliminate suffering is of special interest to women, so it is not surprising that one of the first professions which attracted the fair sex was medicine. It is about forty years since the first Canadian woman received her M.D. degree from the University of Toronto, and since that time there has been a sprinkling of coeds in almost every graduating class from this faculty. There is a fascination in the practice of medicine which only the doctor can appreciate, and to bring relief to one who is suffering, is only part of the work of the human doctor who is daily in touch with the deepest notes of humanity.

Requires Longest Training

Of all the professions open to women, the one which requires the longest training is medicine. It takes at least four years to prepare her for the medical student, and a year more to become a senior in a teaching hospital.

After this she must spend another year in a post-graduate year in Alte, at which time she may take the medical student examination, at least five years before she receives her M.D. degree, and is able to practice. This is the one aspect of the profession which I am impressed upon most strongly, because as the authorities say, "Women have a certain number of years to live out of their control," taking only five years to receive her M.D. and one year. This is a very long time to have to wait, and I have found the course of study cut, either from the academic or practical side, because they have found it too long, and have given up the course.

Most Expensive

Besides the cost of medical school, medicine is also the most expensive of the university courses. In the first year alone the tuition fee amounts to $140 at the University of Alberta, $120 at the University of Manitoba, $110 at the University of British Columbia, $110 Student Union fee, $5 for medical supplies, $10 for books, $10 for registration, bringing the total to $185. In each of the subsequent years the tuition fee increases with the extra fees bringing it to a total of $220. Add to this the cost of instruction and administration during the year, and you will find the total is $250. In the combined Arts and Medicine course of eight years duration the total cost is $1,800.

Needs Reserve

But even after paying her year's fees, the medical student must open her piggy bank again, for there are many other expenses. Medical books are always expensive. For example, a copy of "Surgery" costs $12, and a set of "Surgery" is the same price. Books for the student is starting her collection of medical books, and some of these are checked. Even sturdy old coats wear out and must be replaced. So there is the coat fund, or as it is called, the substantial reserve fund, or as explained by Dr. Ryder, "a sum of money which is a worry to knowledge."

Worries About Caution

Until her arrival at other faculties she cannot depend on her parents' money, and she has to earn those last few weeks. Each student receives a small stipend at the beginning of the term, and after the breakups have been deducted from this, there is a balance of $42 or some other carefully calculated amount left for the student. The last few weeks of "Varsity" are the most difficult, as she does everything from buying a month's supply of food to getting a graduation frock, and the cost of living happens to be that year. Accidents in the course of her studies add to the student's caution money, so even here are no courses.

Problem of Living

The cost of living is the same for all co-eds, except that the student's room and board is less expensively than most of them. Room and board at the University of Alberta is $225.00 per session, with a certain reduction for the time the student spends in the city over the Christmas holidays. Board and room may be had for $150.00 per session at the University district from the rate of thirty dollars to thirty-five and forty dollars.

To cover tuition and actual living expenses, the student requires approximately $500.00 annually. Clothes and personal expenses, including the student's means and taste, $300.00 to conservative estimate of the student's expenses, while the six years would amount to $4,800.

It is important to remember that the student must pay her own expenses. The tuition fee only covers a fraction of the expense of room and board, and the rest must be paid for by government of the province.

At the University of Alberta, Arts and Medicine, an eight year course, make the graduate in Arts before starting the professional course. The combined course of Arts and Medicine is a more gradual education.

Women Physicians

However this difficult course of study is not unattractive to the student who has graduated from the University. It is a great opportunity. It is possible for a girl to earn her M.D. degree in less than four years. Most girls had a little capital when they started, gained usually by working in the home, and when they are working in the home, the girl is doing Chautauquas, advancing or working in the community, and going through to graduation without pawn ing their precious skirt and "cross

First Woman Graduated

The first woman student may also add to her resources by way of inheritance, but there being five offered in various years for highest averages or highest marks in the course, there are manyships, which are of the value of $100.00 per year, offered by the College of Physicians and Surgeons, the Royal Society of Medicine, Dr. Lorne Macgregor, the first woman to graduate in medicine from the University, and the scholarship in surgery and the one in pathology.

The student starts as a freightie in the first three years, and then what? One of the first things that comes to mind is that at the local University, at least, there is no place for the woman student in the medical faculty, and she must go to the men, or the other members of her class. However she soon finds that a "Med" is not a "Med" if she is not a "Med".

In the fifth and sixth year there are ten calls and post mortems as well as the usual every moment is taken up.

Presentation of New Fall Styles

Depicting a Charming Tableau of Fashion—
Including Frocks, Coats and Millinery
Inspired by Paris for the New Season

What they're wearing! The news comes from Paris—from New York, and Eatons' are right on the spot to carry out these new decrees of Fashion—presenting the most chic and charming of Autumn modes. Already the style picture of Autumn is complete at Eatons' showing:

COATS with lavish fur collars, with deep fur cuffs — and often with hem bandlings of fur.

FROCKS that wear uneven hemlines and express their grace in longer skirts.

HATS that turn smartly off-the-face and droop "Fisherman Fashion" towards the nape of the neck.

COATS

Have Sumptuous Fur Trimmings and Graceful Silhouettes

The new coats! They're designed to flatter — to appear luxurious. They frame the face with picture-like collars of fur — they sway gracefully from the hips in gentle circular ripples.

The Dressy Coat is shown at Eatons' in smooth silk broadcloth — in the new featherlight wool weaves. Featured in the rich Autumn browns, in black, in navy, in mid-blue, in currant red, in forest green. Trimmed with such beautiful furs as squirrel, caracal, fox, French beaver, etc.

The Sporty Coat is a jaunty belted affair of tweed or camel's hair — manfully tailored — softened by crush collars of beaver, wolf, fox and skunk.

FROCKS

Take on New Flares for Afternoon and Evening

Frocks go to great lengths to be charming this Fall. Evening frocks trail gracefully about the ankles — afternoon frocks flutter below the knees in silken ripples.

For Afternoon "They're wearing":

Flounced frocks of satin, often with touches of lace or pastel coloring at neck and wrists.

Velvet frocks with swaying circular skirts.

Frilled and pleated frocks of heavy crepes — of sheer georgettes.

Shown in black, dark browns and golden browns, currant red, navy blue, bright blue, jewel blues and dark Helvetia green.

For Evening — Frocks with many frills and flutters are in georgette, satin, flat crepe, taffeta and velvet — shown in pastel colors, in bright colors and in black. Often brightened by a touch of metallic trimming.

Hats Prefer to Show the Face this Season

Turning sharply off-the-brow, with interest centred on the becoming drooped effects of the side and back

They're mostly in felt — soft and supple as a piece of velvet — cut and folded into chic brim lines. Featuring smart simplicity of style — nearly all self-trimmed with bows and twists of the same fine felt.

Favored in the new Autumn browns, in black — in deep warm reds — in rich dark blues — and sombre woodsy greens.
